

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, November 26. 1717.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Nov. 26.

Rome, November 6.

TWO Extraordinary Couriers are arrived here from France: The former brought the Declaration of the most Christian King, which imposes Silence upon the Affair of the Constitution; and the latter demands, that the Pope either give Explications, or approve the precise Doctrine which the Bishops are agreed upon among themselves in France. The Pope has that Doctrine under his Examination, but 'tis not yet known if he will approve of it. His Holiness has not yet been pleas'd to grant to his most Christian Majesty, the Indulgence for the Archbishoprick of Bezancon, saying, that he will make an End of all at the same time, and will grant that along with the other Bulls for the vacant Bishopricks. The Pope's late Decree upon the Affairs of China, has been published in that Empire, which being very pressing, and leaving no Room for Evasion, it met with immediate Submission, and many of the Jesuits took the Oath preferrib'd in it. But some Ships of Portugal being arriv'd at Macao, brought Orders from the King of Portugal not to submit to that Decree of his Holiness, because they hoped to make him explain it, the King of Portugal having for that Purpose given Instructions to his Ambassador at Rome; which has occasion'd those Fathers to conclude, that they ought to conform to the Orders of his Portuguese Majesty. They have also engag'd the Emperour of China in this Affair, who has declared, that he looks upon what comes from Rome by the Hands of others than the three Jesuits whom he sent to Europe, as suppositions; and as things to which no Regard ought to be paid. Two of those Fathers, Barros and Beavollier, were lost at Sea, and the third, Father Provana, is still here. In the mean time his Holiness says, that he will find out some-body to send to the Indies, who may be superior to all the Missions of the East, and supply the Place of the late Cardinal de Tournon.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 26.

Rome, Nov. 6. On Tuesday last the Pope gave at last the Audience to Cardinal de la Tremouille he had often demanded which lasted very long; and the Cardinal afterwards sent an Express to the Court of France, of what pass'd in it. But it is kept secret here; and all that is talk'd of it is mere Conjecture. In the mean time 'tis given out that the Duke de la Feuillade will suddenly come to this Court with the Character of Ambassador of France; and that the Cardinal de la Tremouille has offer'd him his Palace. The two young Princes of Bavaria are still at Albania, where the eldest is a little indispos'd. The Hereditary Prince of Muscovy, who has been some time at Naples, arriv'd here a few Days ago, with a numerous Retinue. On Wednesday last he went to visit the Palace of the Vatican, being accompanied by Don Charles Albani, who gave him a most splendid Collation there. The next Day he went to see the Church of St. Mary Majora, and several other Places. This Prince has also seen all the other Curiosities of this Place, and is serv'd by the Coaches of Cardinal Paulucci, chief Minister and Secretary of State.
